The Phoenixville Pottery, Kaolin, and Fire-brick Company, was organized in 1867, and a few years later was succeeded by Schreiber & Co., who made yellow and Rockingham ware, and terra-cotta ornaments and wall-pieces. Messrs Beerbower & Griffen took the pottery in 1877 and commenced the manufacture of white granite ware. In 1879 the firm name was changed to Griffen, Smith & Hill, and in the following year the manufacture of "Etruscan" majolica was added. × × × × × × × ×. The impressed mark on this ware was a monogram composed of the initials of the firm (G. S. H.), done in a circular band containing the words "Etruscan majolica". These marks continued to be used after the retirement of Mr Hill, when the style became Griffen, Smith & Co. × × × × × × ×. In 1890 a large portion of the works was destroyed by fire and the manufacture of majolica was discontinued. Mr Smith withdrew from the firm in 1889. × × × ×. The firm style was then changed to Griffen, Love, & Co.*
